GreaterGood Network continues to support Haitian artisans and fund other needed services

Seattle, WA—CEO Tim Kunin of GreaterGood Network pledged that support for Haitian artisans and needed services will continue to be a top priority in 2011.

"We are very proud of the money our clickers and shoppers contributed to both human and animal relief following the horrible earthquake in Haiti last year. We are also very proud of the Haitian products we sell, and have sent staffers to all parts of the country in order to create custom gifts that provide much needed income for Haitian artisans, many of whom were made homeless in the quake,” said Tim Kunin.

Since the earthquake struck a year ago, GreaterGood Network and GreaterGood.org significantly increased its donations to Partners In Health’s ongoing efforts to treat victims in the early months after the earthquake as well as their response to the ongoing cholera crisis there.

Other Haitian projects assisted in 2010 including donations to Prosthetics Outreach Foundation, Haitian Health Foundation, the Hand/Eye Fund Artisans Grant Program, and the formation of the Animal Rescue Coalition of Haiti (ARCH), among others.

“We are very committed to long term rebuilding efforts with partner organizations like PIH, ARCH, and other charitable partners as well as our numerous Haitian suppliers,” said Kunin, who cites ARCH’s campaign to vaccinate animals against rabies as a project that protected both the animal population and the people of Haiti against a potentially deadly disease outbreak. To date, ARCH has treated more than 50,000 animals.

Kunin said that the GreaterGood Network will remain committed to these efforts throughout 2011, especially those organizations and projects which directly address the need for “new Haitian infrastructure, housing, and jobs.”
